10. How we protect your account balance

We do not lend your money to other individuals or businesses. When we receive money from you, we issue the equivalent value of e-money and we place it in your account. The equivalent money received from you are deposited into a pooled client account with a bank in the European Union, separated from the Company's own money. This means that, in case of insolvency, your e-money will not be used against payment of the company's liabilities.

11. How to get information about your REVSTO e-wallet

You can view and download your REVSTO account statement by logging into your REVSTO account. All your transactions (money received, withdrawn or sent) will appear in the transaction history section of your REVSTO e-wallet. You can access the transaction history when you log in to your REVSTO account. Each transaction has been assigned a reference number which you can use when you communicate with us.

The account information is available for 5 years after you close your account with us. You can also download the information you need at any time and keep a copy of that information.

We highly recommend that you do not disable notifications from REVSTO but, if you choose to do so, you will have to check your payments regularly on the REVSTO app.

The transaction history report will be available only if there has been an activity on your REVSTO account or if there were any fees charged for the relevant period. We may charge you a fee for providing you with additional information in a different way.

You need to check your REVSTO e-wallet regularly and let us know immediately if you see a transaction that was not authorized by you or a payment that you think it might be made incorrectly. You can do this no later than 13 months from the date of the transaction otherwise, you are not entitled to any correction of errors or refund of funds.

The balance in your account should always be positive or zero. If your REVSTO e-wallet goes negative as a result of a reversal of a transaction, deduction of fees or any other action, you promise to repay the negative balance immediately without any notice from us. In case you fail to do so, we may use a debt collection service or take legal actions. We will charge you for any costs we may incur as a result of additional efforts with regards to the collection of the amount you owe to us.

12. Adding money to your account

All funds in your account are “electronic money” as recognised in the European Economic Area as a form of money suitable for online use.

To get electronic money in your REVSTO account you must sign-in in the Revsto app and use the “add money” function. Each time you want to add money in your account (top up), you can use a debit card or credit card that you have registered with us. The debit or credit card you will use to top up your wallet must be in your name. You can also add money by making a bank transfer. If you use a card or a bank account in another currency to top up your REVSTO wallet, the card provider may charge you a fee. We do not accept cash or cheques for the funding of your account.

If you add money to your REVSTO e-wallet, we will issue the equivalent amount of e-money in euro. The e-money will be stored in your account and you can send it to other persons or make payments. For now, we can only issue electronic money in Euro.

All credit/debit card holders are subject to validation checks and authorization by the card issuer. We are not responsible if the issuer of your payment card refuses to authorise payment to us. In this case, we will not be able to issue electronic money in your account.

Your balance in your REVSTO account will always be used for your next payment transaction. Please keep your funding information (i.e., debit/credit card number and expiration date) up to date.

We impose limits on the amount you want upload for legal and security reason. In case you want to upload more money than your limit, you can upgrade, and you will be requested to provide us with some additional information and documentation.

13. Receiving money in your REVSTO e-wallet

You can receive money into your REVSTO account. When someone sends you money, they will appear in the transaction history of the REVSTO app and will be added to your balance by the end of the business day on which the funds were received.

The money you receive may be subject to reversal. You agree that, if the person who send you the money or the relevant service provider reverses the amount, we will deduct the amount from your REVSTO account.

14. Withdraw money from your REVSTO e-wallet

You can withdraw money in cash from your REVSTO e-wallet through an ATM. Fees apply to withdrawals. Fees are disclosed in advance each time you initiate a withdrawal.

You can withdraw money from your REVSTO e-wallet in euro. In case you want to withdraw money in another currency i.e., from an ATM, this is subject to a fee. The service provider who receives the money on your behalf will convert the amount you want to withdraw in the other currency. This will result to additional charges by the other service provider. REVSTO is only offering e-wallets in euro and does not offer currency conversion for now.

In certain situations, we may delay a withdrawal to comply with the anti-money laundering and other legal obligations. We may also delay a withdrawal to protect you, other users and us from loss or if we need to confirm that you are the one who has authorized the withdrawal.

Your withdrawals are subject to limits. You may need to upgrade your account in order to be able to withdraw more money than your specified limits. This means that you will be required to provide us with further information and documents.

15. Sending money from your REVSTO e-wallet

You can transfer the money in your e-wallet by transferring it either directly to your bank account or to a debit or credit card that you specify in the section "money out" and follow the instructions. Note that, if you send the money to your credit card and you want to withdraw in cash, the payment service provider will charge you a fee.

When you give us instructions to transfer any amount from your REVSTO balance, you agree that you authorize us to transfer the electronic money to the account you have specified by the end of the next Business day.

Once you submit a payment order, we consider that you have given us consent and authorized us to execute the transaction.

You can also send money to other REVSTO users instantly in the section "SEND", choose a recipient from your phone contacts and follow the instructions to complete the transfer. The other person will receive the payment immediately.

You have the option to send money in another currency other than euro. You can select the currency which you want to make the payment from the pre-defined list in the "money out" section.

By using the "money out" function, you can also send money easily to your or someone else's bank account. You only need to enter the BIC, the IBAN of the account and the name of the recipient you want to send money and follow the instructions. We may ask for other information also to confirm that it is you who is giving the instruction.

When you instruct us to pay another user, we will transfer the money from your REVSTO balance to the recipient's account. You need to have enough available funds in your account to cover the amount of any payment or transaction you make plus any additional fees.

When making a transfer, make sure that the details of the person you want to pay are correct. If they are not, the payment may be delayed, or you may lose your money if you send it to the wrong account. Make sure that you know the person you are making a payment to. If someone requests a payment from you, make sure that you know who he is and what the payment is for to prevent being a victim of a scam.

You can save any beneficiary bank details to your application for future payment instructions.

We are not responsible for money sent to the wrong recipient as a result of incorrect information provided by you. If you have provided wrong information to us, you may ask us to assist you in recovering the money, but we cannot guarantee you that these efforts will be successful.

16. Exchange rates

When you want to make a payment in another currency other than euro, we will let you know about the applicable exchange rate. The exchange rate offered for a payment, is only valid for the specific transaction at the time the payment is processed.

Where a currency conversion is offered at the point of sale by the merchant, not by REVSTO, and you choose to authorise the payment transaction on the basis of the merchant's exchange rate and charges, we have no liability to you for that currency conversion.

17. Using your REVSTO card

You can also use your REVSTO card for the following:

- make payments by entering the details of your REVSTO card at a terminal (card number, expiry date and CVV number).
- Make a "contactless transaction" by touching your REVSTO card at a terminal (no PIN is required for contactless transactions up to a certain amount).
- Insert your REVSTO card into the electronic card reader for transactions that do not require your PIN code.
- Provide your REVSTO card number and other details consenting to the initiation of payment orders for debiting your account when entering into an agreement with a service provider.

If you take these actions, we will consider as you are giving us consent to make payments or withdraw cash from your REVSTO card unless you notify us that the money was stolen from your account. For charges relating to the use of the card please see our fees here. For the account limits of Personal wallets can be found here and for Business e-wallets please click here.

You cannot make any payments or use your REVSTO card after it has expired. The expiry date is printed on the card. You will not be able to use your card the day following the expiry date. However, you will still be able to receive and send funds from and to the REVSTO account associated with the card.

You can contact customersupport@revsto.com to request a replacement card provided you do that 14 days before the expiry date printed on your card. We may send you a replacement for an expired card even if you have not requested one. A replacement card is subject to a fee.

18. Fees

We charge fees for our services as stated in the Fees section. Quoted fees include all applicable taxes. We may deduct our fees from your REVSTO account balance or deduct our transaction related fees from the amounts we transfer before those funds are credited to your REVSTO account.

If a transaction or payment requires you to pay a fee to us, we will disclose that fee to you at the time of the payment instruction.

You can find the details of the transactions and our fees charged in your transaction history in the REVSTO app. We will not process your transaction until we have received the fees from you. You cannot deduct any amounts from our fees.

We may make a charge for additional services we provide outside these terms and conditions. We will notify you if there are fees applicable when you ask for the specific service.

We are not responsible for the fees associated with a bank or another payment service provider to process payments from you to us. Any fees charged by third parties will be deducted by us before crediting the remaining balance to you.

19. Cancelling a payment

You can cancel a payment any time before final execution. After execution, you cannot cancel any payments since we do not have any control over the funds sent. You also can't cancel payments between REVSTO users.

You cannot cancel a payment order in foreign currency when the funds have been converted to that currency.

20. How long will the payment take?

Payment between REVSTO users are made instantly and the money are available at the time of transfer.

When you give us a payment instruction to another user who is not a REVSTO user, you need to make a SEPA transfer. In this case, the funds will be deducted from your account within the same business day after we receive your complete payment instruction. The recipient will receive the money the next business day. However, if the day on which you give your instruction on the day on which the recipient will normally receive the payment is not a business day, the money will be received on the next business day.

If you give your payment instruction after the cut-off time (5.00 pm) the payment will be executed the next business day.

You have the option to give us instructions to make a payment on a later date. In this case, the money will leave your account on that day.

21. If a payment was sent to the wrong account, wasn't sent at all or was delayed

We try to process your payments correctly and timely, but sometimes things go wrong, and a payment might be delayed or not received by the person you wanted to pay.

If a person has not received the money you have sent him, we will not be responsible if we have processed the payment correctly, but you gave us the wrong details.

If the payment was not received or delayed and the payer is in the EEA, let us know by sending us an email to customersupport@revsto.com no later than 13 months after the amount was taken from your account.

If the money was not received into the account, and the reason was our mistake, then we will refund the payment back into your account including any charges paid as a result of our mistake. If possible, we will restore your account to the state in which it would have been if the transaction did not take place.
